The Situation in Brief.

The Feeling in Landon Financial Cir-ciac—Russia a Fublic Recury.

LoxDox, Nov. 18, Noon.—The feeling to-lay in financial circles is somewhat quieter.

The Times remarks that Russia, has please berself in the position of a public enemy.

Rumors come here thick and fast, but the reactal impression is that nothing can avert war.

Name.

Movement of Austrian Troops.

London, Nov. 18.—It is rumored that the Austrian Government has ordered the departure of a large number of troops to the neighborhood of the Turkish frontier in order that that country may be ready to co-operate with other 'powers in the event of the breaking out of hostilities.

It is said the particular violations of the Paris treaty of '56, which Russia has complained of, are as follows: The crutes of the Prince of Wales in the Black Sea, in an English Angate; a similar trip subsequently by Lord Bulwer Lytton; the appearance of an Austrian squadron at Varna, a Turkish city on the Black Sea, when the Emperor of Austria was there, and, lastly, a voyage of the Sulsan in a Turkish frigate. The Bussian envoy at Constantisople protested against this latter circumstance at the time, but increctually. last few days. When the Eastern question made its appearance, the people were first startled and were afraid of a new war, but by degrees the ir slarm cooled down when they discovered that at the Government quasters matters were received caimly and indifferently, an universal opinion began to prevail that England alone was in a position to take up the gauntlet but will never do it, and that after writing some aerimonous notes, will allow Russia to break the treaty of 1856 at her discretion.

low Russia to break the treaty of 1856 at her discretion.

Even careful financial circles here are disposed to justify Russia in following the example of other powers in disregarding the effete provisions of the treaty. Ever since Napoleon proclaimed the treatile of 1853 at an end without being taken to task, the other powers felt that such a law could be set at naught. Biamarck alone was candid enough at that time to admit openly that henceforth might would go before right. It is believed here that Pressis has no wish to embarmas herself with new complications and that the matter will blow over peacefully.

will not proceed to enforce her claims, but that, upon finding England, Austris Riviy and France reconsta, sie will submit the matter to arbitration, and not onpage in war. Should this expectation prove a defusion the peace party in the Cabinet will insist on England abstaining from all war

"What cannot but impress Russia in these mediations is not the factitions and hostile-tendency toward her of which they hear the stamp; it is not the consequences that may result to a great country from the establishment on her frontier of a small quast independent State; it is above all the facility with which ten years after its conclusion a solemn transaction invested with an European guarantee can be infringed in its letter and apint under the eyes of the very powers which cought to be its guardans. "The equilibrium established in the East, therefore, is is destroyed, to the detriment of Russia, and the resolution taken by our august Master is to re-establish it. Her Britaic Mejesty's Government would never consent to leave the seenrity of its coasts to the mercy of an agreement which is no longer respected, and it is too just not to recognize that we have the same duties and the same rights.

"But what we especially desire to establish is, that this decision implies no change in the policy which His Majesty, the Emperor, follows in the East. You have several times already been made to enter into explanations with the Cabinet of London upon the general views the two Governments hold upon this important question, and to point out a conformity of principles and of interests which we have noted with much satisfaction. "We have deduced, therefore, that it is neither from England nor from Russia that the dangers can come which could threaten the Ottoman Empire, that the two Cabinets have an equal desire to maintain its existence as long as possible by the settlement and concelllation of differences between the Porte as long as possible by the settlement and and the Christian subjects of the Sultan, and that in case a declaive crisis should occur.

An official Washington dispatch says Sectory Fish will soon be succeeded in the Calnet by Gen. Butler.

A delegation of prominent officials in the territory of New Mexico arrived here yesterday to urge upon Congress the passage of an act admitting New Mexico as a state into the Union. They claim the territory has over one hundred thousand taxable inhabitants, and is fully prepared for an admission. They say that within a year after the tensioned as any that within a year after the tensioned of the control of the property of the territory with have trebled its present population. A bill for the admission of the territory was introduced during the last session of Congress, and is now in committee. A similar bill for Colorado will be given preference.

New York, Nov. 18-r. M.
The Wall-street markets are all in a state of feversis excitement this afternoon and the fluct ations more violent than for some time past. In the Gold Room the dealings were very large and attended with much excitement, while prices reached the highest point of the day. This was caused by cable felegrams from Europe, which reported lower prices for bonds and an uneasy feeling in financial circles there. On the Stock Exchange the pressure to soil increased, and, at nnancial circies users. On the Stock har-change the pressure to soil increased, and, at times, stocks sold with great freedom. This finally resulted in a decline in active shares of ½ to 2 per cent, or about 1 per cent on the average. The day closed up with some abste-ment in the excitement and a steadier feei-ing, although the Wall street speculators are generally very much mixed in regard to the future.

generally very much mixed in regard to the future.

The money market was easier during the afternoon at 566 per cent on call loans, with exceptions at 4 per cent to leading government bond clealers. Time loans were made at 562 per cent, and prime discounts at 7695 per cent, but transactions in basiness paper were very establ.

Foreign exchange is firm at 9½ for 60-day and 10½ for sight bills. There were no transactions at the outside quotations.

The gold market is strong; opened at 11½, tonched 11½, 11½, 11½ and 11½, and closed at 11½, the carrying rates were 19½ per cent.

The New York Post charges

A few evenings since Mr. HURDELLA, of the British Parliament, sad to a New York audience: "I stand before you the representative of one of the largest constituencies in England, without the power to influence, in the smallest degree, the appcintment of a custom-house officer or an exciseman." And this 'remark, instead of being received as a boast of British superiority, was greeted by his hearers with prolonged applause. The people are in lavor of civil-service reform in this country, and General Grant will never hear the last of his pledges on that subject.

RIER-JOURNAL, it iails to find out the affirmative part of the question, says:

This system of enforced labor and enforced education must, as the Courses-Journal and surgeris, be universit in its application, and must include both white and black, and we question very much whether the Democracy of all the States will describe the compelling near of the states will encoupe it compelling near control to the same. to its own needs and wisdom; but not in that vengeful sprit, either to the blacks or to the whites, which has hitherto marked the legislation of both the Radical and Democratic parties.

Our measure would not be necessary but for the errors of the Radical policy, which has produced the evils of which the South now complains. Had the several States of the South been left to themselves in the beginning, the General Government holding out an inducement for them to do something with, and make something out of, the negroes, the Southern people might, and we dare say stey would, have taken them in hand with a view to their imbeginning, the General Government holding out an inducement for them to do something with, and make something out of, the negroes, the Southern people might, and we dare say shey would, have taken them in hand with a view to their improvement. This was not done. The reverse was done. The Government dealt only in violence, in threats, in coercive measures, which deluded the blacks and measures, which deluded the blacks and exasperated the whites. The result is a dreadfully morbid state of society, and this is not growing better, but worse.

If the negro is, as the Tribune proposes, "lett to himself," he will relapse into barbarism. On this point the view of the Tribune is faulty. "If, having civil consilir," any the Tribune "is can main." equality," says the Tribune, "he can maintain himself in the race for life, let wind do so. If he fail, then it will be his own loss, and he alone will suffer." But he alone will not suffer. He is now a power in the South. He is a citizen and a voter. He is also a laborer on whom the South relies. If he fails in the race for lite he is not the only sufferer; he is the smallest sufferer, for his condition renders him incapable of very acute suffering. him incapable of very acute suffering. Supply the meager wants of nature, leave him alone to his indolence and sloth, and he will be content. Those who will suffer are the white people, the people who are dragged down and made poor by a load of ignorance and degradation which has been imposed upon them and which they can not shake off. Therefore they dare not let him alone. After all that has been done for him his condition is unpromising. done for him his condition is unpromise Bad laws and unwise handling ha brought him to this. How are you going to get him out of it? Certainly not by those general milk-and cider expedients that scarcely reach the poorer class of whites, and cannot be made to come within rifle range of the blacks. The equality idea of the Chicago Tribune and the Cincinnati Commercial sounds well enough as a phrase and is particular-ly attractive when used to protect the weak against the hostility of the strong. But where the questions of persecution and proscription do not enter into the mat-ter, where the matter relates to a class like the blacks, it is only a theory. It cannot be made to work. There are prejudices that may not be written out of existence. They do exist and will exist, and it is an idle abandonment of reason and the actual state of affairs to ignore them. We pro-pose, recognizing them in a business-like way and not in the way of race or party teeing, to do something with which they need not interiere, something which they will have a motive tor assisting, something will not be long either. A Congressional Carbuncle.

When defeated in his efforts to obtain the indorsement of his district to obtain the indorsement of his district by a re-election, the Protectionists still cared for his interests and were about to procure him the English mission. But the marketable brains accessible to the tariff hobby is in such limited supply that the edict has gone forth from the N.Y. Tribune, and is echoed from Washmen, who, as rule are rather proud of Tribune, apd is echoed from Washington, that it is necessary for SCHENCK to be in Congress So he will contest the seat which CAMPBELL was elected to fill—and whether he gets it or not will depend on the back.

The Foreign Imbregite,
The Paris treaty of 1866, which Russia pronounces annulled by the saffered other powers to maintain its guarantees, is famous for its abollism of privateering and its liberal docurnes in regard to blockades, neutral flags, and neutral goods in time of war. But though Lord Granville has propounced Russia's assumed right to disregard some of the provisions of that treaty tantamount to the assumption of a right to disregard them all, and though the English people appear to regard Gonracemake bell, the only articles Russia opposes and prohounces no longer binding are the two following:

This method of looking at a question which is in every way exceptional and which requires peculiar treatment is characteristic of those who discuss it from a remote and unfamiliar standpoint. The blacks form a class, and not an inconsiderable class, at the South. They are, en mass, ignorant, poor, lasy and degraded. The suddenness of the revolution which made them free, and, without any previous training, elevated them from slavery to suffrage, conterring upon them not only citizenship but political consequence wholly disproportioned to their capacity to employ it safely, has done a deal of mischief. The negro is not now in a normal state, and, if left to himself, there is little likelihood of his resuming even his original condition; that is, the condition of sample ignorance and docality which are teachable. His head has been turned. He has likelihood of his resuming even his original condition; that is, the condition of smple ignorance and docality which are teachable. His head has been turned. He has been exposed to had influences. He is not himself. He is already degraded and is growing vicious. No class in the North can be compared with him, and all the known and common expedients for the elevation of general society fail to reach his case. Special legislation is indispensable. But if the kind of legislation which is needed cannot be had without making it universal, why then we shall have to make it universal, why then we shall have to make it universal, why then we shall have to make it universal, that is all. It is not unlikely that there are many whites whom it will not hurt, whillst to the entire mass of blacks it is essential.

The Tribune will understand that we propose to confine our specific to the South. The Tribune will understand that we propose to confine our specific to the South. We desire to ground a plan of relief in that apirit of genuine triendliness and reform which can be detended in every State of the Union. We do not urge it on every State; for, in many States it would have no application. It is a local, self-governing expedient, to be arranged by each community according to its own needs and wisdom; but not in that vengeful spirit, either to the blacks or to the whites, which has hitherto marked the legislation of both the Radical marked the legislation of both the Radical

If any such secret understanding existed between, them nothing would be more apropos than the preliminary step of raising a Homan-zollers to the head of the local sover-eignty guaranteed by the treaty over the Sultan's Christian subjects in Roumania. Supposing the existence of this family alliance, and witnessing the irresistible precision with which King William has performed his part of the contract, we ormed his part of the contract, we must admit that the Old World is about to pass under the domination of a gigantic, duality, absolute in its notions of government, fierce and predatory in all its inlatter may yet have power enough to deleat the most formidable combination, if or even mancuver so as to make a tor England exhibits the pluck of Granville midable diversion in favor of Paris, there England exhibits the pluck of GRANVILLI rather than the bland complaisance of GLADSTONE, and if Austria can unite her trans-Leithan and cis Leithan province A Short Lay Sermon. The gay season is upon us, and as one wanders through the streets at night he encounters everywhere suggestive tokens of fashionable life. Carriages roll along with a massy, muffled, aristocratic tone both of wheels and springs, and, as the lamp-rays glint down into the depths below, they disclose the shine of satin and the twinkle of jewels, that are to glow presently and sparkle under the gaslight Variegated globes are to be seen, like railway signals, here and there before the dwelling-places of the rich and the patri-cian; and anon, where clumps of drivers and tootmen are gathered, the pedestrian finds himself of a sudden treading on soft layers of carpet that span the pavement, like pretty bridges, over which a rosy flood of heaven steals with the warm dance shine that pours out of the gates of a sort of double-doored and portly para dise, very fine to see. What a world it is! It is the same world, we may be sure, is always has been and will be always, the same world of good and ill, beauty and deformity, pride, pomposity and vain con-ceit, absurd pretense and wretched lawn-ing, lying, backbiting and flirting, grand which at least promises amendment.

If this is not done, and the negro is let alone, we shall see what comes of it, and it time out, stirred the passions of human time out, stirred the passions of human Sometimes it is the ass that puts

Those dengature deed and graces wis that can not be had for less than an hundred deliars to the magalifects wis that can not be had for less than an hundred deliars. Thus it will be seen that the young sentlemen who come on this year have a lovely prospect before them, and may gush as wildly as they will over either style of upper gear, the exquisite blonde (which is getting a little worn and seedy, it must be owned), or the deep and meisscholy brunette, which is rather the more poetic and orthedox just now.

Several new things in masculine decoration will likewise contribute to the glory of man. There is the new Prince Charles collier that has a droop about it that is really touching, and them there is the gorageous Sedam shirt, which is only a purple dicky, but which gives the warlike youth a moet stunning and martial aspect. If the girls are deluaws, the young men are hardly less so; and, so they satisfy one another, what does it matter?

So, the philosopher may smoke his pipe tranquilly by his winter fire and be sure that no prosting of his is going to mend the morals or the manners of his neighbors; whilst the preacher and the satirist deliver their annual round of sermons, gay and grave, to make people not much wheer nor better, albeit a trille genteeler, perhaps, than their grandparents. Shall we spend as much on our dress and pleasures? Why so; all this is pretty much as it may be, more's the

The Threatened Radical Split. The Chicago Republican, which appears to have settled into a very orthodox but rather elevated species of Radicalism, has the following about the threatened break-rather elevated species of Radicalism, has the following about the threatened breakup of the Radical elements:

We attach very little importance to the rumor from Washington about the proposed new pary and the chicago fribune on the basis of revenue reform. There are more hope of achieving that decirable end inside of the Republican party than there can possibly be outside of that the control of the chicago from the Republicans who athere to the party organization this country; and the attempt to measuredure one out of the revenue reform crv will be a disastrous thities. Let the Recubiona party be reformed, and it will sessure all good outpoess.

It is believed, "in reliable circles," that there are people in Chicago who know more about this matter than the editor of the Republican, albeit he is a person usually well informed. His ides that there can be but two parties in this country is certainly true. But he fails to consider that the present state of parties is very loose and tangled, and to reflect that it would not take much of a twist of the wheel to throw all the national elements of the country together on a common line of decimes against the schemes of Gen. Grant and his Radical adherents.

There are other Semators besides Sonator Trunnull, who are politically dead if the Radical element forces itself on the country by a false count of the vote in "9 and this revolutionary danger makes the Democratic party more liberal than it might otherwise be. The Democratic leaders beheve that Gen. Grant will be the next Radical nommee for President, and, as he is in possession and has the Supreme Court, both houses of Congress, and the army on his side, it is not doubted that he will use all of them and in any manner, fraudulent or forcible, that he may think necessary, to his referention in office. He and his parti and his partisans seem to be of the opinion that they are encrusted there and to stay. In their eyes loyalty is Radicalism. They have an election law by which entire TROCHU he plenty of men, arms and munitions. Th tortifications enable him to keep Prussia batteries back out of reach of the city, an there is food enough to last until he can make good soldiers of his new army of half a million men. Operating with these upon an interior line against Prussian forces scattered about a circuit of sixty miles, he has advantages that more than counted balance the difference in the quality of the troops and the small difference in numbers. withstanding the menacing attitude of and the resolute assertions of Enged and Austria, it is said that nobody out ide of England believes that there will be nother wer in Europe at present. It is be-ieved in Vienca and Berlin and St. Petersourg that England, after a few rigorous protests and finding no enwill subside and give Russis her point in the Eastern question. In London, however, the case is different. The journals clamor for rar unless Russia gives up her ides of an abrogation of the Paris treaty. The English Cabinet is divided on the question and it is said the peace party will triumph and give ruits of the Crimean victory.

The Military Situation.

The very latest dispatches tell of a heavy attle in progress between the armies on the Loire. The reports from that quarter are the dispatch of King William, announcing a egagement of Wednesday, which was but feint of the French to cover their grand withdrawal of the Prussian army from its patches, which place the French army at a firm this supposition. Then the battle, which being fought at last accounts, William. It was raging at 2 o'clock yester Charles has met with many obstacles thrown ed that ten days must clapse vet before it

A New Law Firm.

Hon. R. H. Rousseau, late United States Minheer to Hondurse, has returned to the practice of law in this city, having formed a partner-file with Gen. G. W. Chilton. Mr. Rousseau for many years prove to the war was a parnner of his brother, Gen. Lovell H. Rousseau, and enjoyed an extensive and lucraintee practice. He was eminent as a Chanc-ry lawyer, and had scarcely an equal at the bar. Gen. Chilton is size distingui-bed for seal and eloquence as an advocate.
It is not improper to and that, while Rousseau is a stautch Radical, Chilton, who was in the Conflowers and the state of the seal and the conflowers are many, is an unfinching Democrate. But thus tis that, with unity of interests and interchange of contions, the butterness and animosities expendered by the war pass away to be unended by an erro of good feeting among thore who could not fraternise in war.

ner in which the work is being done, and are satisfied that the pian of the Board of Directors is the best that can be adopted. That the work should be pushed forward as rapidly as possible during the present low stage of water and delightful weather which we have been blessed with this fall, must be self-evident to all, and the idea, which seems to have gained some prevalence, that the completion of the work was purposely retarded here, or that it was the interest of Louisville to do so, is perfectly unfounded. The same financial and commercial interests which demand this outlet for Chncinnati trade demand it for Louisville, and there is no reason which can be advanced on the part of Cincinnati for the opening of the canal that cannot be applied with squal force to this city. It costs Louisville merchants just as much to have fleight transferred the stage of the canal control of the canal control on the same to have fleight transferred that is a smell to have fleight transferred that is a smell to have fleight transferred that is a smell to have the gain and correct that city, what falmost at their own doors, whears they can mow get; hem no closer than the Portigant what, and are compelled to have them transferred a clistonce of three miles by the tedious trocess of draying, at great trygole and expense.

Immigration Convention at Indian-

The question of immigration is one that has interested the couth and Southwest to a great extent, and will yet demand much greater attention than it has received. Governor Baker, of Incians, has called a convention to be held at Incianapolis on the 350 thus, which will be attended by delegates from the states or the West and South, and at which much useful information upon this subject will be developed. The following dispatch has been received by the President of the Board of Trade in this city:

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 18.

To J J. Porter, President Louisville Board of Trade: Trade:

I hope your board has appointed a delegate to the immigration convention to be held here November Edd. I dee mit important. The Southwestern States should be fully represented. The majority of the boards of trace have responded to the call.
